Judicious use of wetlands

2458. SHRI A. VIJAYARAGHAVAN: Will the Minister of ENVIRONMENT AND FORESTS be pleased to state:

(a) what steps have been taken to conserve and facilitate judicious use of wetlands;

(b) if so, the details including number of wetlands and national sites of wetlands identified to protect under Ramsar Convention of 1971, as on today, place-wise, inland-wise, coast-wise, State-wise and category-wise;

(c) if so, whether the State Governments were consulted for identifying and protecting wetland systems;

(d) if so, the details including number of wetland systems suggested by State Governments, if any, as on today, State-wise; and

(e) the steps taken, if any, to commensurate appropriate policy for identification and protection of wetlands in detail?

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF ENVIRONMENT AND FORESTS (SHRI NAMO NARAIN MEENA): (a) The Ministry of Environment and Forests implements a scheme on Conservation and Management of Wetlands under which 71 wetlands covering 22 States of the country have been identified for undertaking conservation activities to check further degradation. Assistance on 100% grant basis is given for activities like survey and demarcation, protection, siltation control, pollution abatement catchment area treatment, de-weeding, biodiversity conservation, supplementary and alternate livelihood support for people dependent on wetlands, community participation and education and awareness. An amount of Rs.43.16 crores has been released from 1987-88 to 2005-06 for conservation and management of identified wetlands in the country for various conservation activities.

(b) So far, 25 sites have been identified from India as Ramsar sites under Ramsar convention. The place-wise, inland-wise, coast-wise, State-wise and category-wise details of these sites are given in the Statement (See below).

(c) to (e) Yes Sir, wetlands are identified on the basis of requests received from concerned State Governments. These proposals are further examined by an Expert Group on Wetland (EGoW) constituted in the Ministry. Wetland State Steering Committees have been constituted in concerned States under the chairmanship of Chief Secretary having members from subject matter Departments/Academicians/Stakeholders/NGOs and a Representative from Centre. The identification of site is based on Ramsar criteria and field visits are made to the proposed site to see their feasibility for inclusion under National Wetland Conservation Programme.
